

Friends of the Henderson County Public Library

The Henderson County Public Library has been a vital addition to the Henderson community for over 100 years. It is as pertinent to this community today as it was when it first opened in 1904. Over the years, the Friends of the Library have recognized the benefit of the library to our community.

Even in this advancing digital age, the library continues to see an increase in the number of people coming to the library for free educational opportunities, information, and entertainment. Whether patrons come for free access to the Internet, free computer classes, or to check out a book, eBook, music, or DVD, the Friends of the Library help to maintain the library as a place where all residents can enter through the library doors and be given equal opportunity for growth, learning, and understanding.

All the money that is raised by the Friends of the Library is used for library services that are available to all residents of Henderson County.

If you have not renewed your Friends of the Library membership for 2012, won't you please do so today? Just fill out the form below. If you would like to become more active in the Friends, call the library to ask how. And remember, donations, contributions, and bequests to the Friends of the Library are recognized by the IRS as tax deductible.
